

EXHIBIT U

5 SEPTEMBER 2024 / SF NEWS / JAY BARMANN

At Least a Few Airline Passengers Are Getting Confused About Oakland Airport Name Change, Showing Up at SFO

...

PN

Oakland Airport's name change to San Francisco Bay Oakland International Airport has duped at least a couple of Spirit Airlines passengers so far, who have shown up at SFO wondering why they can't find any Spirit Airlines

Photo: Duke Cullinan

Comments for this thread are now closed

47 Comments

9+ DJquick ▾

• Share

Best Newest Oldest

Chort

12 days ago

How many airline passengers can you fit in one hand?

👍 0 🗨 1 ➦

The Real Do Something Nice

12 days ago

Nonsense. Anyone complaining about this is a stooge for hire, being paid by San Francisco.

👍 3 🗨 1 ➦

Breed and Circuses → The Real Do Something Nice

12 days ago

Oh, a wise guy, eh?

👍 5 🗨 0 ➦

The Real Do Something Nice → Breed and Circuses

12 days ago

London has two airports and so does Paris. People seem to be fine with that.

👍 1 🗨 0 ➦

JonLee The Real Do Something Nice

12 days ago edited

A lot harder to confuse Heathrow vs Gatwick. Or Charles de Gaulle vs Orly. And yes, if you really went to the wrong airport, you deserve it.

8 0

rick jones JonLee

11 days ago

How about London city airport? LCY.

0 1

kelpdiver The Real Do Something Nice

11 days ago

but no one ever called it London Airport. They use LON to refer to all of the airports, and use L + 2 letters for the Heathrow, City, Gatwick and Luton airports.

Now...these are Spirit customers, so they've already established that they make bad decisions...

4 0

Hispanidad The Real Do Something Nice

11 days ago

TBF, they don't call it Heathrow Adjacent Gatwick Airport.

3 0

JonLee The Real Do Something Nice

12 days ago

Yes, if you been spoofed by the name change, you ain't coming here to complain.

2 1

Ukee Rubida JonLee

11 days ago

My partner's sister's in-laws don't speak English very well and they were extremely confused trying to book tickets to her wedding last week.

Let's just say they did a better job driving their rented Navigator through that roundabout on Townsend last year around Xmas.

Luckily we were able to come pick them up in Oakland when they landed, these are educated people, engineers and doctors, not like they are morons or something.

1 2

pleasecheckagain

12 days ago

What confuses me about the OAK from Berkeley as to SFO

Jym Dyer 1 Guest Vote

basically the same price to go to SFO as to OAK for a longer trip.

It's $10.15 for the clunky connection to OAK, but only $11.25 for the long ride around to SFO, even though SFO is 67% longer in minutes and 71% longer in drive distance.

You get the ripped off feeling going to OAK on BART, especially if you are a family of 4 paying